DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

Figure 1 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yoshiharu (JP 53-36004).

Yoshiharu discloses a hydraulic system having an oil pressure source (3), a first oil path connected to the oil pressure source, a hydraulic pump motor (7) having an inlet port connected to the first oil path, an inertial body (8) connected to a rotary shaft of the pump motor, a second oil path connected to an outlet port of the pump motor, an unloading path, having an on-off valve (12), branched from the second oil path, a valve (11) for preventing back flow to the unloading path, and a third oil path extending from the valve and connected to a load (not shown). The system further includes a controller (not shown), and the oil pressure source is a hydraulic pump driven by a driving source (EM).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yoshiharu (JP 53-36004).

Yoshiharu discloses a hydraulic system as described above with respect to claim 1, but does not teach that multiple identical systems are connected to the oil pressure source.

In re Harza, 274 F.2d 669, 124 USPQ 378 (CCPA 1960) (Claims at issue were directed to a water-tight masonry structure wherein a water seal of flexible material fills the joints which form between adjacent pours of concrete. The claimed water seal has a "web" which lies  in the joint, and a plurality of "ribs"  >projecting outwardly from each side of the web into one of the adjacent concrete slabs. <The prior art disclosed a flexible water stop for preventing passage of water between masses of concrete in the shape of a plus sign (+). Although the reference did not disclose a plurality of ribs, the court held that mere duplication of parts has no patentable significance unless a new and unexpected result is produced.).

Since having multiple identical hydraulic systems connected to the oil pressure source is a mere duplication of parts, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the system of Yoshiharu to include a plurality of hydraulic systems connected to the oil pressure source for the purpose of driving multiple loads.
